We thank each and everyone that participated in the 2014 Light Contest. There were many beautiful homes and light displays throughout Enchanted Valley that made an enjoyable experience for the judges and for our neighbors. While driving through the neighborhood in December, we could see many homes that definitely radiated the Holiday Season. We had 109 homes show their holiday spirit for the 2014 Light Contest, so again thank you to all for participating and showing pride in our EV!

Welcome to your newest Enchanted Valley Board member Bill Loving!
 Bill and his wife Laura are long time residents here and support our vision of "Making Enchanted Valley a Great Place to Live".

YARD OF THE MONTH RETURNS

Beginning in January, EV and the Beautification Committee will recognize, showcase, and award "Yard of the Month". Let's start the New Year out right and make sure our yards look superb! Additionally, remember to keep your curbs clean of all debris to enhance your home's visual appearance, as well as, to allow for proper street drainage.

In 2015, one familiar role Enchanted Valley would like to bring back is Block Captains. Following Enchanted Valley Deed Restrictions is Important Because Harris County does not implement zoning laws, our deed restrictions become a very important factor in maintaining our neighborhood and property values. Please read and respect your deed restrictions. They are in place for your protection. If you get a violation letter, please don't be angry, see it as an opportunity to repair the violation and maintain your home's value. If you receive a letter in error, please call SCS management company to discuss the noted violation. The Enchanted Valley Homeowners Association and Management Company are there to help and serve you, as well as, to protect your property values and those of your neighbors.
